Foundation Launches New Web Site

(Columbia, MO) – No matter what someone is looking for, the World Wide Web is usually the first stop. Now information about Missouri's Cattlemen Foundation, its programs or how to become involved is just a mouse click away.

“It is important that we have a presence where people can locate information fast and in an easy to use format,” says George Barnitz, Board Chairman, of Lake Spring. “www.mocattlemenfoundation.org is the place to start whether you're looking for the latest scholarship application, dates of a Farm Safety College or information on our Children's Fund.”

Established in 1993, the Missouri's Cattlemen Foundation provides academic scholarships, farm safety and youth education programs, and matching grants for children with special needs. Since 1997, the Foundation has awarded 396 scholarships worth $398,500 to students in 80 Missouri counties. Nearly 1,200 junior high and high school students have taken part in the first five Farm Safety Colleges. And in the past 13 years, 140 children in nearly 50 counties have received over $123,300 for the purchase of adaptive/assistive equipment, prosthetic devices or to make modifications to a building or vehicle.

The Missouri's Cattlemen Foundation is a 501(c)3 charitable entity. For more information about the Missouri's Cattlemen Foundation, contact Darla Eggers, 573/449-4923 or darla@mocattle.com.
